For several months the government has been under pressure to let down the bars to enable foreign makers to produce a low priced Austrian car. The government apparently has decided to try the former alternative.

Foreign cars are extraordinarily expensive in Austria but even despite this there is a greater demand than can be filled by the very limited import quota.

81 Cars a Year.

Because American firms are not allowed to sell more than 81 cars yearly in Austria, a popular low priced American car sells for about $2000 in Vienna. The same car costs about $500 in the United States.

Representatives of American firms have tried to get the government to consent to the production of American cars in Austria, or else grant a more liberal import quota. The government, however, has refused.

The new Austrian car which the government has in mind probably will be exempted from the ordinary tax, and the tax on gas increased.

Automobile experts say Austria is a rich market if it could be opened to low priced cars. It has the lowest car registration of any important country in Europe.

CLEVELAND LIQUOR BUSINESS DOUBLED

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, O.—The liquor sale in the state liquor stores here is double that of 1934, according to figures released by Albert Tinsley, supervisor of state liquor stores in the Cleveland district.

This increase is evident despite the fact that keen competition is now being offered the state stores by 25 state liquor agencies set up in private business places.

Tinsley revealed that the sales in state stores total around $110,000 a week now. Last fall a $70,000 week was considered good, he said.

For fire protection operating sprayers and sprinkling plants in fields a rotary pump has been invented that is operated by jacking up an automobile so that its rear wheels revolve two rollers.

O. W. U. OBSERVATORY TO BE USED BY O. S. U.

Joint Committee From Two Schools Will Be in Charge.

By The Associated Press

DELAWARE, O., May 17—Perkins observatory of Ohio Wesleyan university, which houses the world's third largest reflecting telescope, will be operated in the future by a joint committee representing Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio State universities, President Edmund D. Soper of Ohio Wesleyan announced yesterday.

The agreement between the two universities has been under consideration for many months, Dr. Soper said, and finally consummated at Columbus today when the executive committee of Ohio Wesleyan's board of trustees approved the action.

Both Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio State will join in the operation of the observatory which will be used by the department of astronomy at Ohio Wesleyan and the department of physics and astronomy at Ohio State, Dr. Soper said.

Inability of Ohio Wesleyan to finance capacity operations of the observatory was understood to be the reason for its willingness to share use of the equipment, which now will be put to full use.

A committee made up of President Soper of Ohio Wesleyan, President George Rightmire of Ohio State and one member of the board of trustees of each university will constitute a governing body.

Although the observatory will be used jointly, property will remain in possession of Ohio Wesleyan and future gifts will be administered according to wishes of donors, it was announced.

Either university can terminate the agreement by giving notice a year in advance.

Only one other observatory in this country has a mirror larger than Perkins observatory's 69-inch glass. It is Mt. Wilson in California, which has a 100-inch mirror. Dominion observatory in Canada has a 72 inch mirror.

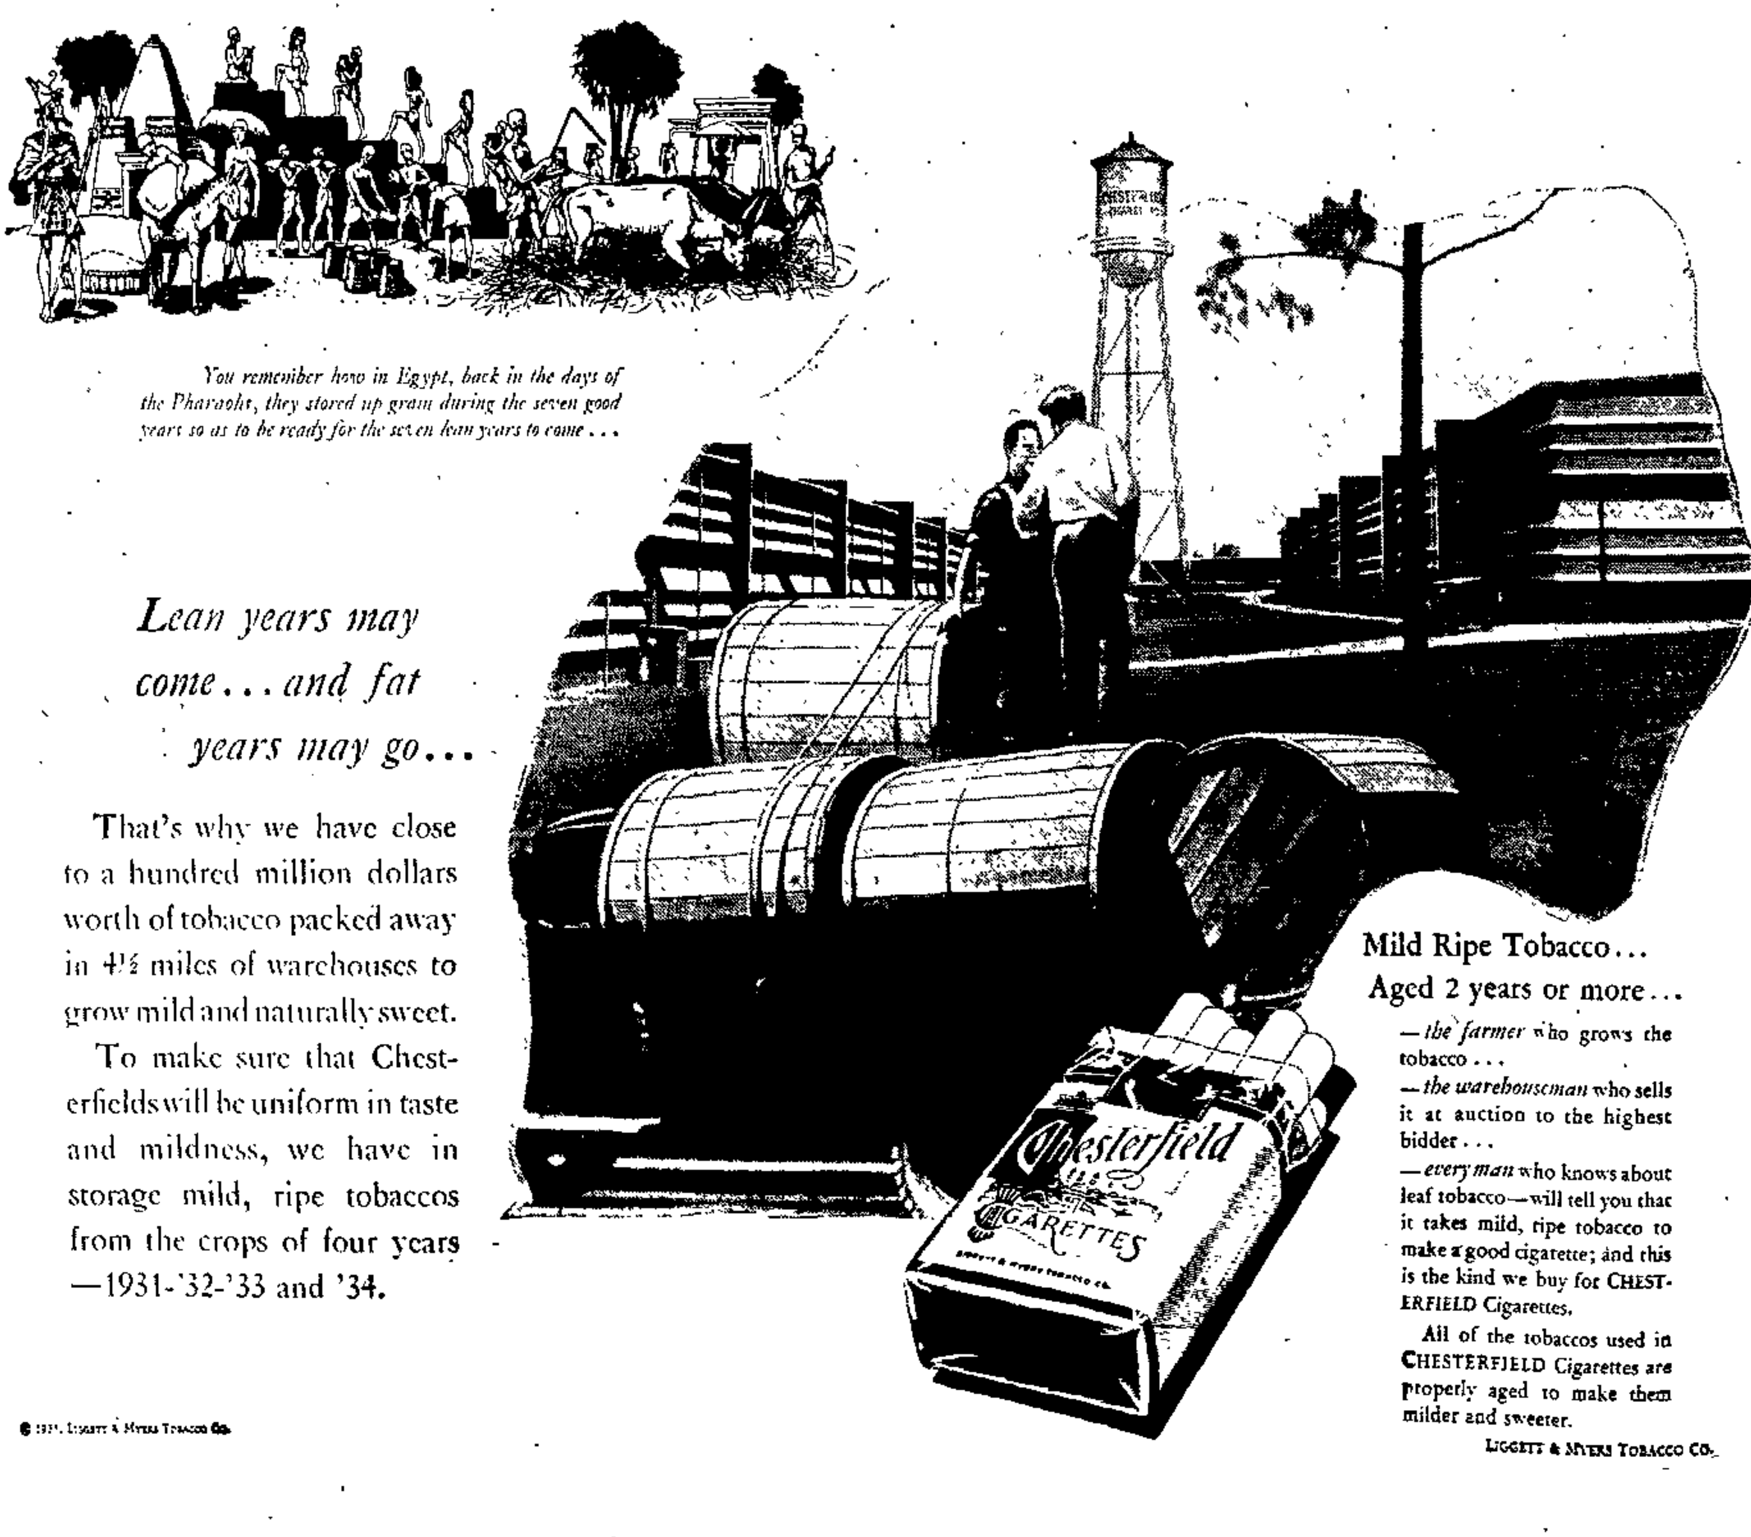
"Marion's Greatest Store for Men and Boys"



You remember how in Egypt, back in the days of the Pharaohs, they stored up grain during the seven good years so as to be ready for the seven lean years to come . . .

Lean years may come . . . and fat years may go . . .

That's why we have close to a hundred million dollars worth of tobacco packed away in 4½ miles of warehouses to grow mild and naturally sweet.

To make sure that Chesterfields will be uniform in taste and mildness, we have in storage mild, ripe tobaccos from the crops of four years —1931-'32-'33 and '34.

Mild Ripe Tobacco . . .
Aged 2 years or more . . .

—the farmer who grows the tobacco . . .

—the warehouseman who sells it at auction to the highest bidder . . .

—every man who knows about leaf tobacco—will tell you that it takes mild, ripe tobacco to make a good cigarette; and this is the kind we buy for CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes.

All of the tobaccos used in CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes are properly aged to make them milder and sweeter.
